

River Tat, tributary of the River Wensum SSSI © Environment Agency

WENSUM NAMED AS RIVER PRIZE WINNER

The River Wensum overcome strong competition from three other finalists to be announced as the inaugural winner of the England River Prize. The announcement was made at our annual conference earlier this month. >>>

© RRC

© RRC

CELEBRATING 20 YEARS OF THE RRC

This year we celebrate our 20th anniversary and would like to thank everyone who has supported us over the years by being an RRC member, attending RRC events or working with us.

RRC TRAINING COURSES & SITE VISITS - BOOK TODAY!

You can still book a place at our upcoming training courses & site visits. The next training course is 'Working with natural processes for sustainable flood risk' in London (5th June). >>>

Good to know

Did you see?

River restoration in the Lee Valley on Countryfile? >>>

Challenges and choices consultation

Responses supported the catchment based approach but asked for clarity on how actions could be funded. >>>

New to the RiverWiki ?

Have a look at this quick start guide to find out how to upload case studies, and what we need from you to 'approve' them. >>>

New pocket guide

Theo Pike has released a guide which shows how to tackle invasive species. >>>

INVITE site visits

The Environment Agency is hosting site visits in London (27th May) and Berkshire (28th May). For info, speak to Dominic Martyn. >>>

WaterLIFE Project

Two new vacancies in the WWF UK Water team. >>>

RiverWiki case study for MAY

Haltwhistle Burn

We would like to thank  and the Centre's core funders for their continued support